MIDNIGHT FIRE DESTROYS BARN

Big Night Fire In Gettysburg Destroys Barn, Slaughter House Machinery and Partly Destroys Other Buildings.

Fire shortly before midnight Tuesday totally destroyed the large slaughter house and barn in the rear of the J. A. Tawney property on Chambersburg street, partially destroyed the barn of the Harvey Adams property adjoining and caused anxious moments for the owners of many nearby properties which caught fire during the progress of the main conflagration.

In the Tawney property was the complete butchering outfit of John Shearer the Chambersburg street butcher. This was totally destroyed. About a ton of hay belonging to Reuben Slentz was destroyed in the Adams barn.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It started in the rear of the Tawney building and had not gained very much headway when first discovered. The spread of the flames was so rapid, however, that nothing could be done to save the building or its contents and the first arrivals at the scene devoted their energies to saving the contents of adjoining barns. From the Adams barn were taken Mr. Slentz's horse, chickens, runabout and sleigh. A dog fastened in the hay mow was also saved.

Horses and wagons from other nearby barns were quickly got out and taken to places of safety.

FIREMEN ARRIVE

Chief Wisotzky and his fire ladders arrived on the scene in quick order but it was some minutes before the hose could be laid and a plug stream got on the fire. By this time only the frame work of the Tawney building was standing and the upper part of the Adams building was burning rapidly. The Cobean stable on the east was on fire, the Eberhart garage was threatened, numerous roofs in the vicinity were being showered with sparks and matters looked exceedingly bad.

While the firemen were busy fighting the numerous blazes and others were occupied in watching their roofs, busy men were rushing to places of safety the numerous handsome automobiles in the garage. One after another was pushed out and hurried to a safe distance from the scene of the fire. Harvey McCreaf, whose home is in the property north of the garage, removed considerable of his household goods and was prepared to get the remainder out in a hurry if occasion demanded.

LACK OF WIND HELPS

There was practically no wind and a more serious situation was saved by this fact. Nevertheless, burning embers were carried almost to the Philadelphia and Reading station.

The efforts of the firemen to stop the progress of the flames met with almost immediate success. Work was directed on the buildings adjoining the Tawney property and the fire at these places was soon under control, the work progressing rapidly as soon as an engine stream was given.

With the butchering outfit of Mr. Shearer there was also destroyed a wagon and some other goods. The ice house under the same roof was burned leaving a huge pile of ice standing exposed. Mr. Shearer's loss amounts to something in the neighborhood of $500. He carried $250 insurance. Mr. Tawney's loss is about $700 with $333 insurance. Mr. Adams had his barn insured for $100.

MADE LARGE BLAZE

The fire made one of the largest blazes which Gettysburg has seen for some time and from a distance presented a very threatening aspect. Those who go late to bed were soon at the scene while those who retire early rose hastily and hurried to the fire.

There were the usual incidents which always attend a night fire. Chief among those at Tuesday's night's fire was the misfortune of William Schaeffer who was working on top of the Adams barn when a stream of water struck him and he fell to the ground. He was unhurt. Joseph Bayly also fell from a nearby building but he too came out unharmed.

BREAK IN PIPE LINE

A break in the pipe line of the Pure Oil Company occurred Monday morning on the farm of Edward Fuhrman, near Miller's schoolhouse, about two miles East of Hanover. Before the leak was repaired considerable oil had escaped and run into a small stream near by. Oil from the broken pipe at one time spurted 30 to 40 feet into the air.

Local representatives of the road say that the Philadelphia and Reading will put on in a few weeks an express train from New York City to Gettysburg arriving here about three o'clock in the afternoon and carrying a parlor car. No stops will be made between here and Harrisburg and the train will be a fast one the entire way. The return train will leave here about 2:30 in the afternoon, two equipments being used for the service.

The morning train, it is said, will leave here about 6:30 and will also carry a Pullman car. It will be a fast train, stopping only at the more important stations. Returning in the evening about nine o'clock it will run in a similar manner, having the Pullman and not stopping at the smaller stations.

It is expected that the afternoon train now arriving here at 1:55 will be taken off.

This improved train service will be greatly welcomed by Gettysburg people, giving most excellent service between here and Harrisburg, Philadelphia and New York.

ABOUT SCALE

A correspondent writes concerning the idea expressed by a caller at this office a few days ago that scale would never be eradicated until some action is taken to stop it on trees on public land. This latest contributor to our columns says, "I advance the theory that it would be a charitable act if each and every one would lend a helping hand to exterminate these pests on trees not owned by private individuals."

HARRY F. FORD KILLED IN YORK

Resident of Hanover, Well Known In Gettysburg, Meets Death when Car is Derailed and Collides with Building.

Harry E. Ford, of Hanover, well known in Gettysburg, was killed this morning about eight o'clock in a railroad accident at York.

Mr. Ford was yard foreman in the Western Maryland yards at York and was riding on the step at the rear of a car which was being shifted on the siding of the Sandusky Portland Cement Works a short distance west of York. The car on which he was riding was derailed and crashed into the building demolishing a part of the wall.

The crash also disconnected a number of pipes containing boiling water which flowed over Mr. Ford and, with bruises which he sustained, caused his death within a few minutes.

He was quickly placed in the tender of the engine and rushed to Beaver street, York, where an ambulance was in waiting. He died in the ambulance before the hospital was reached.

Mr. Ford formerly ran through Gettysburg as freight and passenger conductor and had many friends here. He was a former resident of New Oxford and a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ford. He was aged 48 years.

Surviving him are his wife and several children, of Hanover; his mother, Mrs. James Ford, of Hagerstown; and the following brothers and sisters, Robert Ford, of Gettysburg; Mrs. White, of Washington; Miss Kate Ford, Mrs. Robert Tate, and Mrs. Owen Hartle, of Hagerstown.

Surface, Economic Zoologist.

PARKER GETS SOME JEWELRY

Bogus Seminarian Got Jewelry from Baltimore Firm which they are now Trying to Find. Other Mr. Parker Hears of it.

That Parker, the defrauding bogus Seminarian, operated more extensively while in Gettysburg than was first known is being shown by recent developments, the latest being a letter from A. H. Fetting a Baltimore jeweler asking the return of some jewelry sent on memorandum.

This letter was received Tuesday evening by Rev. George G. Parker of Seminary. And right here let it be said that this gentleman has been caused no little annoyance by the actions of the other Parker who took his name with the exception of the middle initial, George G. Parker is a graduate of Gettysburg College, and has been a student in the Seminary for several years. He spent one year as a Lutheran missionary in Africa. He is well known in Gettysburg and it is most unfortunate that the bogus theologian took his name.

The letter above referred to was from A. H. Fetting who deals principally in college fraternity jewelry. He evidently sent the crook a consignment of jewelry from which to select or with which to receive orders. He asks for an account of Beta Theta Pi jewelry sent on memorandum. An explanation will be sent to the jeweler appraising him of his loss.

It develops that several Gettysburg people lost by Parker who tried to keep the affair quiet. Their losses amounted to very small figures and in no instance other than those already reported was any real haul made.

Local authorities are redoubling their efforts to get some trace of the fellow.

EXPERIENCE OF UNLUCKY MAN

John Guise, of Butler Township, Rides Mule to Home of Neighbor where he is Chased by a Gander and Thrown by Mule.

To be chased by a gander and thrown head first over a fence by a mule was the unusual experience of John Guise while at the home of Eli Garretson in Butler township on Monday afternoon. Mr. Guise escaped injury.

The gentleman had started after dinner to the farm of Mr. Garretson and all went well until he approached the barn yard. Suddenly a large gander belonging to Mr. Guise caught sight of the mule and, half running, half flying made a vicious attack on that animal. The mule took fright and ran full speed toward the barn yard gate which was closed.

With one leap the animal tried to clear the barrier but its hind foot caught, throwing Mr. Guise headlong over its head. He landed on his shoulders and escaped with a few bruises.

The mule lay on the ground and struggled wildly to free itself from the gate. Before it succeeded the gate was practically reduced to kindling wood. The animal finally got free and was found not to have suffered from its experience.

The gander retired when its prey escaped over the gate.

FIRST CONVICTION IN GRAFT CASES

Pittsburg Councilman Guilty of Selling His Vote.

CONFESSIONS ARE EXPECTED

It is Believed Over Two Score of Other Officials Will Plead No Defense as Result of Trial.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 20.—M. L. Swift, Jr., the first councilman to be tried as a result of the latest Pittsburg graft investigation and the pivot upon which all future prosecutions practically stood or fell, was convicted on two counts of bribery, one of accepting $100 for his vote on the city depository ordinance, and the second of accepting $81.10 for his vote on the street vacation ordinance.

The jury required just one hour and a half to find Swift guilty and recommended him to the extreme mercy of the court. Swift's counsel, Rody P. Marshall, the man who so successfully defended Max G. Leslie, at his last trial, and who has been retained to defend practically every one of the other forty-four councilmen, asked the usual four days in which to move for a new trial. It was granted by Judge Frazer.

Convicted by Convict. The prosecution depended almost entirely upon the testimony of "Captain Johnny" Klein, himself a convicted grafter, to make possible the conviction of Swift. His evidence as to the passage of money was uncorroborated and the defense endeavored to disprove this statement of Klein by placing Swift upon the witness stand and having him deny in toto that he ever had received a cent from Klein.

This testimony was offset by the testimony of W. F. Finn, of Scranton, who told how Swift said to him: "No person saw Klein give me the money so they can't prove I got it."

When the jury retired District Attorney Warren I. Seymour, who had prosecuted Swift, said: "If we get a conviction in this case we will convict every last one of the councilmen. If we fail we may as well drop the entire business."

May Lead to Confessions. After the verdict was rendered Mr. Seymour made a public announcement that if any of the councilmen whose cases have been listed for trial wished to plead nolo contendere they would be allowed to do so, and the district attorney would request that sentence be suspended as in the cases of the other councilmen who took the immunity bath.

At a conference of the friends of the accused men it was decided that several of them will take the immunity bath, and the statement is made that it is unlikely that there will be more than two or three trials.

Mayor William A. Magee was so anxious to hear the outcome of the Swift case that he appeared personally in the courtroom as soon as he heard the jury had agreed.

SAFE WASHED TO SEA

Strong Box Worth $50,000 Found in Gulf of Mexico.

Galveston, Tex., April 20.—A safe containing diamonds, jewelry and money estimated at more than $50,000 has been found in the gulf in twenty feet of water buried deep in the sand.

The safe has been identified as the property of J. Williams, a jeweler, which was washed away from the historic seaport of Indianola when that town was destroyed by a gulf hurricane and giant wave in 1875.

The story of the safe is told by surviving relatives who assisted Williams in packing it. Williams and his daughter were drowned in the storm and the building containing the safe was washed to sea. Divers have examined the safe and find it intact. Arrangements are being made to lift the treasure and take it ashore. For many years there was a standing reward of $10,000 for any one locating the safe. It was found nearly a mile from the site of the building.

Minister Stricken After Funeral. Middleburg, Pa., April 20.—After holding funeral services at the Has-senger church, two miles west of this place, Rev. Dr. E. H. Leisenring, one of the best known clergymen in the Lutheran church, was stricken with paralysis and fell to the floor speechless.

PRICE OF HOGS SLUMP

Decline of $1 in Two Days Due to Big Shipments.

Chicago, April 20.—Recent heavy arrivals of hogs are reflected in a decline in prices of $1 in the last two days. A few weeks ago hogs sold at the highest since the Civil War, thus attracting heavy shipments in view of which the present reaction is not considered remarkable.

Salt pork on the board of trade recently underwent a decline of about $3, but the market steadied on buying by packers, who were able to purchase the cured product on a basis of 8½ cents a pound, as compared with 9 cents for the live article.

TRUSTS MAY BID FOR CANAL CONTRACTS

Attorney General's Ruling Favors Illegal Corporations.

Washington, April 20.—Attorney General Wickersham has denied the right of the secretary of war to refuse to award a contract for purchases of material and equipment for use in the construction of the Panama canal to the lowest responsible bidder simply because such bidder has been adjudged to be a party to an unlawful trust and monopoly.

The question was submitted to Mr. Wickersham by Secretary of War Dickinson because of a conflict between a circular order issued on May 26, 1909, prohibiting purchase from adjudicated trusts or monopolies and a joint resolution passed by congress on June 25, 1905, regulating the purchase of Panama canal supplies.

This opinion will again open a field to the Standard Oil company, which was closed under the secretary's order.

PASTORS DEMAND MORE PAY

Every Home Missionary of United Presbyterian Church Joins in Request.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 20.—The annual meeting of the board of home missions of the United Presbyterian church, which will be held in Philadelphia on May 18, will wrestle with applications for increases in salary from 270 ministers.

The board, whose members are all Pittsburgers, have the applications in hand now, and they come from practically every missionary and pastor of a non-self-supporting congregation in the church. High prices of commodities and increased cost of living is given as the reason for the applications for more salary.

Don't turn the calf to the feed trough with cows and steers and expect it to get a proper amount of feed. It will be devoured away, while the older stock devour the portion it should have.

Right and Wrong Way to Milk Cow.

There is a right and a wrong way to milk the cow. The wrong way is to let the calf suck. The cow is kept for her milk supply, not to give her best to the ambitious calf. The calf should be separated from the mother.

Value of Cleanliness When Milking.

The milk will have about 25 per cent fewer bacteria in it when the cow is well cleaned and her flanks moistened before milking. To moisten straw bedding before milking eliminates about 50 per cent of the bacteria. A closed pail keeps out about 25 per cent of bacteria.

Give the Cow Pure Water.

Give the cow none but pure water. It is strange that any farmer should allow his milk cattle to drink from a stagnant pond which often has a green scum and is full of bacteria. Such water not only endangers the health of the cow, but also the well being of those who drink the milk.

Separator Not at Fault.

Some farmers leave faults of milk setting around on the frozen ground or hang them up some place while they do the "chores" and then "cure" the cream separator and its maker because the machine cannot separate as much cream from chilled milk as from milk separated as near animal heat as possible.

REJECT NEW WAGE SCALE

Pittsburg Carmen Refuse Company's Terms.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 20.—About 3000 street car men of Pittsburg have voted against a proposition of the Pittsburg Railway company, which carries with it a slight increase, and insist on a three year agreement. The men have instructed their executive committee to insist on the original demands for an increase of 3½ cents an hour.

Only ten of the 3000 workmen voted to accept the offer of the company. The workmen threaten to take action at the expiration of their scale year and tie up the entire Pittsburg district.

ROOSEVELT VISITS BREEDING FARM

Inspects Horses Raised by Hungarian Government.

Budapest, April 20.—Colonel Roosevelt spent a day in the open air, inspecting the great government stud farm at Babolna. He left his hotel, receiving the usual ovation, and with a party took a train for Babolna. Here the party were met by thirty phaetons, a half dozen of which were drawn by four horses and the rest by pairs of state horses, in which the Arab strain is predominant. The drivers wore picturesque uniforms. Forty minutes of rapid driving brought the party to the large model stud farm. Lunch was served and the minister of agriculture proposed Roosevelt's health in the Magyar language. After Roosevelt's reply, in which he promised so long as he lived to do everything he could for the Hungarians, a minister of the Reformed church and the local schoolmaster, one in Magyar and the other so far as could be guessed, in English.

Lunch over, the party lined along a long avenue, and one after another more than twenty magnificent stallions, chiefly pure Arab, showed their paces. Then followed an inspection of the large stables, in which there are more than 900 horses and colts, 200 of which are pure bred stallions. The most noticed animal was a bay filly, born Tuesday of a grey Arab mother, and christened Roosevelt. After the inspection of the stable there was a parade of the state-owned cattle and sheep.

BULLDOG ATE THE CENSUS

Animal Seized Enumerator's Book and Destroyed it.

Washington, April 20.—An entire day's work of one of Washington's bright census enumerators has gone for the evening meal of a hungry bulldog.

All day the industrious enumerator worked, filling his book with the names of prominent citizens at 2½ cents a name.

Toward night he reached the gate of a house and met an unusually big bulldog. The enumerator spoke nothing but kindly words, but the dog paid no attention. Then the census man waved his enumeration book at the animal.

That was the clarion call with the dog. It leaped, landing with jaws firmly locked in the enumeration book. The animal wrenched it from the startled and frightened enumerator's hands and made for the porch, where it proceeded to quietly, but unmercifully, to tear it to pieces.

Every name that met this fate meant 2½ cents to the enumerator, but his skin meant more, and he dashed for a car. He will be compelled to do the work all over again.

GIFTS WORTH $1,000,000

Bishop Scarborough Officiates at Marriage, Which Ranks With Marlborough-Vanderbilt Nuptials.

New York, April 20.—Miss Marjorie Gwynne Gould, daughter of George J. Gould, and Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., of Philadelphia, son of Anthony J. Drexel, were married in St. Bartholomew's Protestant Episcopal church.

The wedding, by long odds the most important of the season, eclipsed all that have been held for many years, and took rank, if it did not surpass in lavishness, the famous Marlborough-Vanderbilt nuptials.

Society of Philadelphia and New York was represented in large numbers, while from other parts of the country private cars, placed at the disposal of the guests by the Goulds, for several days past had been bringing quotas of friends to witness the ceremony. The Gould and Drexel yachts, as well as every liner docking within the last week, brought many notables from Europe.

The ceremony united the Gould family with one of Philadelphia's wealthiest and most aristocratic families, and the match has excited comment as notable because Miss Gould chose to wed an American instead of one of the many titled Europeans who sought her hand. The bridegroom is a banker, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, and is only two years the senior of his nineteen-year-old bride.

Gifts Valued at $1,000,000.

The bride's gifts, it has been estimated, have a value in excess of $1,000,000. Heading the list, of course, is the New York home for the bride and bridegroom, purchased by her father. It cost $350,000, and, with its furnishings, represents an expenditure of $500,000.

Presents without number for the bride, including almost everything conceivable, from huge chests of silver to priceless jewels, have poured into the Gould mansion on Fifth avenue.

Miss Gould herself selected Bishop Scarborough, of New Jersey, to perform the ceremony, the bishop's assistant being Dr. Leighton Parks, rector of St. Bartholomew's.

Miss Gould's attendants were the Misses Vivien Gould, Margarita Drexel, Hope Hamilton, Marjorie Curd, Dorothy Randolph, Elsie Nicoll, Beatrice Claffin; and also little girl Edith Gould and Ellen Mackay.

Mr. Drexel had Mr. J. Armstrong Drexel, his brother, for his best man. The ushers were Viscount Maitland, who is to marry Miss Margarita Drexel in June; Messrs. W. Rhineland, Stewart, Jr., Julius W. Noyes, John Fell, Craig Biddle, Kingston and Jay Gould and Nowell Griffith.

In all probability the early days of the honeymoon will be passed on board Mr. Gould's yacht, the Atalanta, and if conditions are favorable Mr. Drexel and his bride may go to England on board her, as they will attend the wedding in June of Miss Drexel to Lord Maitland.

The Wedding Dress.

The wedding dress has a full court train five yards long, caught to the shoulders in a wide box pleat. It is made of supple ivory white satin, the front veiled under a chiffon tunic bordered with a band of heavy white embroidery in orange blossoms and leaves. Duchess point lace twelve inches in width is draped on the left side, from the satin bodice to the hem and continues backward to the extreme end of the long train. At intervals the filmy lace is caught with a cluster of orange blossoms. The square end of the train is finished with a wide band of the bridal flower worked in heavy white embroidery silk. Although the sleeves are tight fitting and reach down over the hand in a deep point, the neck is cut out in the favorite square and trimmed with lace.

Over this dress she wore an exquisite wedding veil of Brussels net, with a six-inch band of Duchesse point lace finishing the entire edge. It is oval in shape, and adjusted with a wreath of orange blossoms; it reached quite to the end of the court train.

A Wonderful Cake.

The wedding cake is described as being one of the most wonderful conceptions of the confectioner's art ever shown. It is forty-eight inches high

Winchester, Va., April 20.—Snow and hail fell at intervals over the fruit belt and northern Virginia, and the thermometer has taken a decided tumble, falling forty-five degrees since Tuesday, approaching dangerously near the freezing point. Fruit men are greatly alarmed.

SOCIALIST JAILED FOR TAX

Chicken Wire Bars in Grafton, Ill., City Hall.

Grafton, Ill., April 20.—Because J. J. Keon, a Socialist leader, refused to pay a poll tax of $1.50, he began a sentence of six months' imprisonment. The city hall has been converted into a jail by screening the windows with chicken wire.

Keon declares that he will serve his full time rather than pay the tax or work it out at 75 cents a day. He holds that such a tax is unconstitutional.

SENATOR HALE WILL RETIRE

Maine Statesman Faced Fight For Re-election.

Washington, April 20.—The announcement that Senators Hale and Aldrich had decided to retire from public life at the close of their present terms in the senate on March 4, 1911, created the biggest sensation of any political happening in many years. The far-reaching effect on the organization of the senate and what it indicates of tendencies within the Republican party are subjects for comment here.

For several weeks disquieting rumors have come to Washington regarding the fight waged in Maine against Senator Hale's re-election. That it was formidable was evidenced by his frequent trips to the state recently to look after political fences. But the final determining factor appears to have appeared Tuesday.

Editor Dingley, of the Lewiston, Me., Journal, a brother of the late Representative Nelson Dingley, author of the Dingley law, gave out a statement in Washington, predicting Senator Hale's certain defeat or his voluntary retirement from the race within two weeks. Within an hour after he had seen the statement Senator Hale had sent a letter to the chairman of the Republican state committee of Maine announcing his retirement from the race for re-election.

The Republican insurgent senators gathered in a group when the senate met and quietly discussed the retirements of Senators Aldrich and Hale. But they would not talk for publication. Senators LaFollette and Cummins expressed the opinion that comment from insurgents was hardly becoming. But it was evident that they attached great significance to the retirements in the effect it would have on the senate organization and on the Republican party organization.

The Republican conservative senators were profoundly impressed by the prospective loss of their leaders. In little groups they discussed the effect on the party and what the retirements indicated.

WANT PARDON FOR WALSH

Petition Signed by 22,000 Presented to Taft.

Washington, April 20.—Representative Cyplog, of Indiana, presented to President Taft a petition for the pardon of John R. Walsh, the Chicago banker. The petition was signed by 22,000 residents of the Second Indiana congressional district into which the railroad built by Mr. Walsh extend.

The president directed that the petition be referred to the department of justice to follow the usual course. He was informed that other petitions probably would augment the one from Indiana.

New Postmasters Named.

Washington, April 20.—President Taft announced the appointment of postmasters as follows: Pennsylvania, Henry Myron Dickson, Meadville; Frank G. Kurtz, Fullerton; Isaac N. Backman, Strasburg; Jesse N. Watson, Hathor, New Jersey; William B. R. Mason, Boundbrook; William S. Slater, Andover.

Servian Regicide Dies.

Belgrade, Servia, April 19.—Colonel Alexander Maschin, leader of the band that murdered King Alexander and Queen Draga of Servia in 1903, died here. ALDRIDGE BEATEN FOR CONGRESS

Havens, Democrat, Elected in Rochester, N. Y., District.

TURN OF 16,000 VOTES

Republican Candidate Was Charged With Bossism and Accused in Insurance Investigation.

Rochester, N. Y., April 20.—The Democratic sweep is on without the slightest mistake, if the result of the congressional campaign in the special election for representative in the Thirty-second district between James S. Havens, Democrat, and George W. Aldridge, Republican, is an indication. Mr. Havens has defeated Mr. Aldridge by a plurality of 5385, inasmuch as the late Representative Perkins, Republican, carried the district in 1908 by 10,167, the result shows a change of 16,002 votes. Mr. Havens carries the city of Rochester by 3746, when in 1908 Mr. Perkins carried it by 5215, which records a change of 9961 votes.

The result tallies almost to a dot with that in the Fourteenth Massachusetts district, where at a recent special election Eugene N. Foss, Democrat, overturned a Republican plurality in 1908 of 14,000 and won by 6000, making a change of 20,000 votes.

This special election marked the culmination of the liveliest campaign ever waged in Monroe county. This district elected its last Democratic congressman in 1890. Mr. Havens is for tariff reform, while Aldridge stood on the tariff policies of the Republican national administration.

What gave the campaign its fever heat, however, was what the Democrats called the "moral issue," the question of "bossism" and of the personal fitness of Mr. Aldridge to sit in the house of representatives.

The evidence that Mr. Aldridge received a check for $1000 from a representative of the insurance companies for the alleged purpose of influencing legislation was an argument his opponents kept before the people in the form of a photographic fac simile of this check, mailed to every one of the 60,000 voters in the district.

Also it has been known all along that Mr. Aldridge has refused to accede to the demand of the National Clothiers' association that he put himself on record as favoring a reduction of the wool schedule. Insisting that he stood by the principles of his party. Then, too, Mr. Aldridge has received letters, most of them begging "Where do you stand on Cannonism?" Others demanded that Mr. Aldridge "declare immediately against Cannonism or take the consequences."

Mr. Aldridge heeded the letters no more than he did the demands of the National Clothiers' association.

Betting odds were about 5 to 3 on Aldridge.

The Socialists and the Prohibitionists had candidates in the field, but this vote did not have much bearing on the result.

BURNED TO DEATH BY TAR

Woman Falls While Carrying Flaming Kettle.

Sayre, Pa., April 20.—Mrs. Oscar Tompkins, daughter of J. B. Bray, for many years editor of the Free Press, of Waverly, N. Y., died from burns. Rain fell and it was found that the roof of the Tompkins home was leaking. Mr. Tompkins placed a kettle of tar on the kitchen stove to make repairs. While the tar was heating he left the house.

Mrs. Tompkins went to the kitchen and found flames issuing from the top of the kettle. She grasped the receptacle and started for the door of the house. She stumbled over the family dog and the hot tar slopped over the animal and on her clothing.

The dog, with hair on fire, ran to a street car and attempted to climb on board. The motorman closed the door and the dog was struck and ground to death beneath the wheels. Mrs. Tompkins had most of her clothing burned from her body and died in terrible agony. Her parents have been spending the winter at Eustace, Fla.

MARK TWAIN'S ILLNESS

Humorist's Condition Causes Much Apprehension.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 20.—Although Mark Twain had a fairly comfortable night he complained of severe pains in the region of the heart. His vitality continues low and his condition is such as to afford no little apprehension as to the outcome. He obtained relief by sitting up in his big, roomy chair, propped up by pillows. The respiratory difficulty is still apparent.

Enlarge Loaves of Bread.

New York, April 20.—East Side bakers increased the size of their loaves of bread. They added two to three ounces to each loaf. Bread which formerly sold at 7 cents a loaf weighed two pounds. Now it weighs two pounds two ounces. This means the saving of thousands of dollars to the poor. Shrinkage of 60 cents a barrel in the cost of flour was the cause.

A Good Way to Use Hyomei

Besides breathing through the inhaler a few times a day, many catarrh sufferers write that they find inhaling Hyomei from a bowl of steaming water each night before retiring a great aid in curing stubborn cases.

Try it; it's very simple; gives quick relief and makes you breathe easier. Fill a bowl half full of boiling water; pour into the water a half teaspoonful of Hyomei, cover head and bowl with a towel and breathe through nose and mouth the medicated antiseptic and healing vapor that arises.

This method relieves that stuffiness at once and makes your head feel clear. You can get a bottle of Hyomei at drug stores everywhere or at The People's Drug Store for only 50 cents. Ask for extra bottle Hyomei Inhalant.

But bear in mind if you want a Hyomei inhaler you must buy a complete outfit which only costs $1.00.

But as stated before; if you already own an inhaler a bottle of Hyomei costs but 50 cents.

Hyomei is guaranteed by druggists everywhere and by The People's Drug Store to cure catarrh, sore throat, coughs, colds, nose fever, asthma and croup, or money back. Try it on that generous basis.

REPORTS WERE NOT EXAGGERATED

As Many Local People Are Testifying.

The Root Juice instructors made many lasting friends while here. Their wonderful remedy has done worlds of good at this point and reports of cures are being circulated from every direction. The drug store is more busy than ever wrapping up Root Juice and listening to the many flattering reports of the great good it is doing.

"Mrs. Sarah Collins said: 'I used to bloat so at times I could hardly get my stomach; sour gases would form in my stomach and dull, heavy headaches were at times so bad I felt I would go crazy; my tongue coated and I always had a bad taste in my mouth. My hands and feet were cold at times and at other times they would burn like fire, but thank my good stars, after hearing so much about Root Juice, I went to the drug store and bought a bottle of it and after using the first bottle I went back and bought two more bottles. I have used it all and don't think I will need any more, as I feel as well as I ever did in my life.'"

Root Juice seems to be good for any trouble of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or blood. It is sold for one dollar a bottle or three for two dollars and a half at the People's drug store.

The Lady Who Danced the Minuet. The minuet was ever the aristocrat of dances. Before the lady of the eighteenth century elected to step the dainty measure she had many points to master, for to dance the minuet was to court criticism. The plunge taken, she wore a puppet on her shoulder to tell the company she proposed to make or mar her ballroom reputation.

Another point of etiquette lay in the gloves. A soiled pair was good enough for the country dance, but an absolutely new pair had to adorn the fair hands which graced the minuet. And so the lady of the eighteenth century on dancing bent set out with two pairs in her satchel.—London Chron.

TO many women the laundry is the least interesting part of the home, and often the weekly washing and ironing are the work most dreaded by the entire family. In fact, in many homes they prove to be the one insurmountable task, and because no other solution is found for the problem the washing is sent to the laundry or is done in any way and by any one so long as it is taken out of the house. Why the washing and ironing should prove such unpleasant work as to cause both mistress and maid to rebel against it has always been a mystery to me. I can explain it only by the natural supposition that neither knows how to do it well and that the possibilities for doing the work quickly, easily and thoroughly are few in most homes. We generally find that a properly equipped laundry is among the last things to be added to the house and that in the majority of cases a tub or two, perhaps a washing machine of possible merit and occasionally a wringer comprise the average washing outfit in private homes of moderate means. And, small as that equipment is, it can be made to give very satisfactory results if a little knowledge and intelligence are brought to the task. The trouble is most women do not like to wash because they have not been taught to do it properly and because they make extremely hard work of it. They appreciate to some degree the fabrics and dainty clothing, but they do not, as a rule, appreciate these to the extent that makes them desirous of preserving materials and colors.

While it is difficult at any time and in almost any locality to obtain well trained helpers for housework, it is often an easier task to get a good cook or housemaid than it is to find a first class laundress. Because of this it is all the more necessary that the mistress of the house should be familiar with fabrics and how to cleanse them.

The Modern Laundry Equipment. Whenever possible the laundry should be a separate apartment in even small houses. It may be located in the basement or adjoining the kitchen; but, wherever it is, the room should be well lighted and well ventilated and should have a good floor and hard finished walls. There should be no soft or porous material used in the laundry to absorb moisture. For a small home laundry the following list of furnishings will be found sufficient:

Three or four tubs, stationary if possible, made of soapstone, enamel or porcelain; a good washing machine, clothes wringer, clothes stick, clothes boiler, tin or copper; zinc or glass washboard, clothespins (kept in box or basket), water pail, clothes basket, scrubbing brush, large granite spoon, galvanized iron clothesline, skirt, sleeve and bosom boards for ironing, ironing blanket, mangle and several good irons of different weights. An electric or even a good gasoline iron is such a valuable labor saving device that its first cost should seldom be considered, because it very soon more than repays it. Besides this amount of furnishing a number of common substances for removing stains of various kinds should always be on hand. Among those most frequently needed may be mentioned borax, ammonia, salt, vinegar, alum, naphtha, muriatic and oxalic acid. These should be kept in a closed box and out of the reach of children, as some of them are poisonous. Wax, bluing, starch, French chalk and javelle water are also often needed in the laundry, and if a supply of them is kept on hand time and effort may be saved on washing day. A valuable addition to this equipment would be an electric or water motor with which to run the washing machine, wringer and mangle. With such an addition it is possible for one woman to finish a large washing with comparatively little outlay of strength.

Removing Ordinary Stains. Washing is the mechanical cleansing of clothes to remove all impurities and Whatever may be the net result of the congressional investigation into the Ballinger-Pinchot affair so far as either man or the public welfare is concerned, it is nevertheless a fact that a good deal of information is being made public which is not only interesting but highly entertaining to the public and of a type, by the way, which certain interested mining, railway and timber syndicates would quite likely a great deal rather have kept in the dark.

dirty. To do this four simple, short rules should be kept in mind—viz: Get out all the dirt.

Keep all articles a good color.

Use nothing to injure the material either mechanically or chemically.

Have some definite knowledge of different fabrics in order to treat each in the way least likely to injure or change its character.

Unsatisfactory results in laundry work can often be traced to carelessness in preparing the various articles to be washed. Too often articles coarse and fine, white and colored, are put into the suds together without the slightest attention to such preliminary steps in the process as sorting, removing stains, temperature and soapiness of the water. After such indiscriminate preparation what wonder if fine muslins are soon torn or made yellow, if stains are made permanent and the entire washing takes on a dingy hue!

Before any article is sent to the wash it should be examined and all stains carefully removed. This requires care and some knowledge of chemicals and their action on fabrics and stains. All stains cannot be removed by the same substance or in the same way, and yet it is remarkable how many different kinds of stains may be removed by cold water alone. For this reason I recommend that all articles be soaked in cold water for fifteen minutes or longer before being put into the washing suds. The white pieces should, of course, be kept by themselves, and if there is any question about the fastness of any color a little salt and vinegar added to the cold water will help to set it. Alum added to the rinsing water will make the color still more permanent. The following are general directions for removing stains of various kinds:

Ten and Coffee.—Spread the stained part over a bowl and pour boiling water over it from a height.

Chocolate and Cocoa.—Wash first in cold water, then rinse and pour boiling water through it.

Fruit.—Many fruit stains may be softened and dissolved by alcohol. If heated the alcohol will be more effective. For peach stain it may be necessary to use diluted muriatic acid or sulphur fumes. Boiling water will remove fresh stains of small fruits.

Grass.—Alcohol will dissolve the green coloring matter. Washing with naphtha soap and warm water or spreading on a paste made of soap and baking soda will also remove grass stains.

Grease or Oil.—Soak first in cold water, then wash with cold water and soap, then dry and if necessary use other agents. Chloroform or ether will remove grease from fabrics which cannot be washed.

Wine.—Put a thick layer of salt over the stain from red wine while fresh, then pour boiling water over it. If a yellow wine wash first with cold water, then with soap and water.

Ink.—If stain is on a white garment put to soak for several days in milk, changing frequently. Red ink poured over the black will remove the black stain. The red may be washed out in cold water and ammonia, then boiled. Equal parts of peroxide of hydrogen and ammonia may remove fresh stains. Oxalic acid will remove old ink stains from white garments. Salt and cold water may be used in fresh stains on delicate colors.

Iron Rust.—If fresh, lemon juice, salt and strong sunlight may remove stain, but generally it is better to use muriatic acid at once. Spread the stain over a bowl containing a fairly strong solution of borax and water or soda and water. Drop muriatic acid on the stain a little at a time until it darkens, then rinse thoroughly in the borax and water.

Mildew.—This is a mold growing on the fiber of the cloth. If fresh it may be removed by wetting in strong soap-suds or covering with a mixture of chalk and salt and bleaching in strong sunlight for several hours. Old mildew stains can rarely be removed without injuring the fabric.

Milk or Cream.—Wash out with cold water and later use soap and cold water.

Paint or Tar.—If fresh and washable use soap and water or rinse in turpentine, then wash. If not washable use gasoline. If dry soften with lard or oil, then treat as for fresh paint.

Perspiration.—Use cold water and soap and put the garment in the sun for several hours. The perspiration under the arms is different from that of the rest of the body and requires diluted muriatic acid to neutralize it.

Sugar or Gum.—Dissolve with warm water if washable, with alcohol if not washable.

Blood.—Soak in cold water, then rub out in fresh tepid water. If very dry soak and wash out or use peroxide of hydrogen or javelle water.

A word of caution is necessary when using acids to remove stains. These should not be used on colored fabrics, and after using on any white article always rinse thoroughly in borax and water or ammonia and water and afterward in clear water. Javelle water is an excellent bleaching agent which will often remove old stains. It is easily made and may be kept indefinitely in glass bottles in a cool, dark place.

Javelle Water.—Dissolve one pound of sal soda in two quarts of boiling water, then add one-fourth of a pound of chloride of lime. Stir with wooden stick until lumps are broken, then let stand several hours to settle. Pour off clear liquid and bottle for use. For bleaching purposes use one-half to one cupful to one pail of water. Always rinse thoroughly in ammonia water. To remove stains brush over with javelle water full strength, then rinse quickly in ammonia water.

Some practical suggestions for washing silks, woollens and laces, starching, etc., will be given in a later article.

A very simple preventive of the contraction of disease, chiefly typhoid, from an impure water supply lies in bringing to a boiling point all water which is used for drinking purposes or taken into the mouth for the washing of the teeth or gargling of the throat. Such treatment of water will destroy any disease germs which it may contain. Of course such precautions will avail but little if the family milk supply is taken from cans which are rinsed with cold water from the same foul well.

WHEN FOWLerville ENTHUSED

By M. QUAD.

For years William Strong was the village cooper. He was called Bill by old and young. He was lazy and good natured. He had been married, but his wife had divorced him, and he kept house by himself in the rear end of his cooper shop. Bill had never been known to argue. He had never made a speech. He had never taken any interest in local matters. He had been just made barrels and kegs and been Bill Strong. One evening when the usual crowd had assembled at the grocery and postoffice Mr. Strong turned Fowlerville upside down. Without having given a hint of his intentions he mounted the horse block and began a speech.

In the suburbs of the village dwelt Mrs. Henderson, widow, forty years old. Her husband had left her a poor old house and five acres of land. There were a cow and a horse, and by hiring the horse out by the day and renting most of her land and making her own garden she had managed to get along after a fashion. Bill Strong's speech was all about the widow. It was an appeal rather than a speech—an appeal to the manhood and charity of his listeners. That's what knocked the breath out of the crowd. As Fowlerville had known Bill Strong, a dozen people might have been starving to death any time and he would have taken no interest. The speaker painted the picture of a lonely widow, a grieving widow and a hard up widow. It was a case worthy of any man's charity. It had brought tears to his eyes and a sadness to his heart.

Spring was here, the speaker continued. Four out of five of the widow's acres ought to be planted to corn and potatoes. He had no money, but he would give three days' work. Who would furnish the seed, who do the plowing, who work with him at the planting? Here was a missionary field at home. It was because Bill Strong made the appeal in such a surprising way that the crowd took hold. In five minutes all was settled. Next day the widow's acres were being plowed, and within three days the planting had been finished.

Bill Strong had a second appeal ready. He mounted the same horse block and thanked his collaborators in the name of charity and then proceeded to say that the widow's house was old and the roof leaked. As she sat there in her loneliness the water dripped down on her grieving head. He had no money, but he would give his work if others would give the shingles and nails. Others did so, and a brand new roof appeared. Then came the third appeal. Why not paint the old house and make it match the newness of the roof? Two coats would be the thing, and such was the enthusiasm that one of the merchants insisted on being one of the brush wielders. There was an old fence in front of the house. Bill Strong made no appeal about that. He didn't have to. Others saw the need, and a new fence was built. A new roof was also put on the cow shed and the well provided with a pump. Fowlerville enthused from top to bottom.

The women came to do their part. They presented the widow with dishes, carpets and furniture and gave her of their wardrobes. They clubbed their pin money and bought her a sewing machine. The Sunday school scholars bought the old horse a new harness and a stack of hay for their share. The Young Ladies' Literary club discovered that the widow's cow was on her last legs with old age, and the animal was sold to the butcher and a young one purchased. Never did so many gifts reach a widow's hands. She was somewhat in debt, and the Young Men's Athletic club insisted on paying them. So many actions, calling for so many tears, kept her eyes red and swollen all the time, while Bill Strong was looked upon with more awe and admiration than if he had won the welterweight championship of the world.

By the time all these good things had been done it was time to hoe the corn and potatoes and weed the garden. Fowlerville turned out en masse for that. It was made a sort of legal holiday, and over a hundred men and women turned out to make a picnic of the work. Those who didn't turn out furnished the lemonade and sandwiches for dinner. When the hoeing and weeding had been finished men and women agreed that there was nothing more to be done.

But Fowlerville made one more rally. It raised a clear hundred dollars in cash and placed the purse in the hands of the widow. She had shed many, many tears, but she squeezed out a few more.

Next morning the town beheld Bill Strong moving his few household goods out of his cooper shop. He had a busy air about him. He also had a changed look. When he had gone to a clothing store and priced a twenty-five dollar suit and been to the railway depot to inquire the price of a ticket some one made bold to ask: "Well, Bill, is everything all right?" "Right as right," was the hearty reply.

"You seem to be a busy man this morning?" "Yes, I am. Me and the widow Henderson were married last evening, and we start for Niagara Falls on our bridal tour tomorrow morning! Much obliged to you fellows for fixing us up in such good shape!"

Whether in the case of neighbors or members of the same household, it holds that when two people set out to see how mean they can be they seem to succeed, each surpassing the other by a good up every turn in the game, to the increasing wrath and discomfiture of both parties concerned. On the other hand, if the contest is one in which there is an effort to outdo one another in consideration and kindness the results are also commendable, being edifying rather than destructive, and contributing substantially to the cause of human happiness and decent living.

CALVING IN THE WINTER.

Strict Attention of Dairyman Required During This Period.

A prominent authority on dairying says that the best and safest time for a heifer to freshen is in the summer when she is in pasture, as she then has the most natural food and environment. But it sometimes happens that she must freshen in the winter on dry feed, and under these conditions it requires the best intelligence and care of the dairyman to produce a good cow. She should be free to take all the exercise possible.

The heifer, while having plenty of feed, should never be allowed to become fat. Neither must she be forced to depend entirely upon the straw stack for her food. Food out of which she can make blood, bone and muscle and milk is produced from the same class of feeds. To be explicit, 100 pounds of wheat bran, 100 pounds of oats chopped, 50 pounds of corn chop and 25 pounds of linseed meal or oil cake mixed together make one of the very best feeds at this time.

As the time approaches when she should be placed in a roomy box stall liberally bedded with clean straw. And it would be well to mix a good handful of epsom salts with her grain food and mix for several days before calving.

When you stay up all night, this is especially important in cold weather. See that the calf gets up as soon as possible and that it gets the first milk, a substance necessary to its life and health.

The cow should now be fed a warm mash of wheat bran or something similar. In cold weather give her small drinks of warm water several times a day. Never allow her access to ice cold water.

If the udder swells badly it has hot water; use a flannel cloth wrung out of a bucket of hot water and hold it on the inflamed parts. Keep this up persistently twice a day, a half hour if need be at a time. Then rub with melted lard to which has been added a little turpentine.

Rinsing the Milk Cans. Milk cans in Denmark are sprayed with cold water, then thoroughly sprinkled inside and out with hot water. They are then fastened to a revolving wheel which turns them through a solution of lime water, and they are finally sprayed with steam. The milk bottles are usually washed with soda and water and the inside cleansed by means of a mechanically worked revolving brush and are then rinsed out with cold water. The bottles are then filled and corked by a mechanical process, sealed and tied down with thread. The bottles are then put into racks and packed in ice, ready for distribution the following morning.

England's Old Common Field System.

A "common field" is quite distinct from a "common." It is a field belonging to numerous owners. The land consists of long narrow strips, perhaps not more than ten yards wide and running parallel with one another. What are the exact rules of cultivation that obtain in Kent today we do not know, but of old it was usual to have a regular rotation, such as wheat one year, barley or oats the second and fallow the third. When the crops were harvested, each member of the community getting his or her share, all could put in their cattle, which roamed over the whole field, feeding on the stubble, etc. And this was termed the "right of sack." The "common field" system was gradually done away with by statutes in the reigns of George III and William IV.—London Express.
